“The advisor helped me understand the application. She went through the process step by step patiently and made me feel that I am not alone. She also explained how opening up the RDSP will also help me plan my future better. Now I feel more at ease financially.” - Andrea, Vancouver

ABOUT THE RDSP

The Registered Disability Savings Plan (RDSP) is a Canada-wide registered matched savings plan that gives people living with a disability an opportunity to save for the future and take advantage of up to $90,000 in federal grants and bonds.

Here are some basics:

- For every $1 put in, the federal government can match it up to $3,
- For those living on low incomes, the federal government will contribute an additional $1,000 each year for 20 years
- It is exempt from provincial disability and income assistance benefits
- Individuals can choose what to do with the money when it comes out - there are no restrictions on how the money can be spent
- Anyone can contribute to an RDSP - family, friends, neighbours; it gives people who want to help a way to do so

ABOUT THE PARTNERSHIP

Access RDSP is a provincial program operated through a partnership between BC Aboriginal Network on Disability Society (BCANDS), Disability Alliance BC (DABC), and Plan Institute. It is made possible through the support of the Vancouver Foundation.

It is estimated that only about 37% of British Columbians who are eligible for an RDSP have opened one. In response, Access RDSP provides a “one-stop-shop” for all things RDSP. Our three organizations are working together to provide free direct assistance with opening RDSPs and travel across BC giving workshops and presentations to help ensure that more eligible British Columbians open an RDSP.

Our goal is to see the RDSP in the hands of every eligible Canadian.
